wash of light. "It's particularly good with permanents," he continues, "allowing us to use fewer chemicals for healthier results." 2445 M. St., N.W., Washington, DC 20037. 202-775-0775.

● LOS ANGELES

Warren Hjerpe and Jim Fisher of Rumors salon do highlighting and low-lighting for brunettes, redheads and blondes in multiple shades. "By working with a woman's complexion, we can tell when it's time to deepen or brighten," says Hjerpe. "You can't use the same coloring formula on a woman who's 29 that she had at 19." 9014 Melrose Ave., West Hollywood, CA 90069. 213-550-5946.

● SAN FRANCISCO

What really bugs Anne Marie Colavito, who runs the A.A. Concepts salon is the number of women who come to her with color-damaged hair. "Colorists often use a bleach that's too harsh. They don't realize the harm that's being done," she says. Instead, she uses a permanent tint that contains collagen and keratin, plus natural beeswax to prevent over-processing. 2325 3rd St., Suite 322, San Francisco, CA 94117. 415-626-4685.

● DALLAS

Experts at the Paul Nienast salon pride themselves on natural-looking haircolor—and on having treated the entire cast of Dallas at one point or another. 2603 Oak Lawn Ave., Dallas, TX 75219. 214-521-4300.

Manicures/Pedicures

The quickest and most intimate beauty fix has got to be getting nails done, hand or foot. Think of it—there you are, head-to-head for a half-hour of intense focus. Creating trust is as essential as artistic work, say the experts we spoke to. They are . . .

● NEW YORK

A trip to Lia Schorr on Manhattan's East Side for a manicure or pedicure is usually an opportunity not only to watch, but also to learn. This skincare pro teaches home maintenance while she's at work. Schorr also advocates monthly pedicures. Hers includes callous scraping, paraffin treatment and a luxurious foot massage. 686 Lexington Ave., New York, NY 10022. 212-486-9670.

● BOSTON

Without a doubt, Geneses International offers the best pedicure in town. They cater to women with problem feet and offer a powerful—and powerfully pampering—foot massage. Faneuil Hall Marketplace, 150 South Market St., Boston, MA 02109. 617-720-4555.

● WASHINGTON, DC

The Visage salon specializes in fixing what's gone wrong. "We repair many badly damaged nails, restructuring and revitalizing them," says top practitioner Sylvain Melloul. It's a full-service salon with four international experts. 3034 M. St., N.W., Washington, DC 20007. 202-965-4420.

● LOS ANGELES

What Madonna, Liz Taylor and Sophia Loren have in common is Anita Jackson. Formerly located at the Beverly Hills Hotel and now in residence at the Christophe salon, she sticks to manicures and has a reputation for doing artificial nails that seem absolutely real—even when worn with clear polish! 348 North Beverly Dr., Beverly Hills, CA 90210. 213-274-0851.

● SAN FRANCISCO

"The worse shape the hand and nails are in, the better I like to work on them," says Galina Konstantinosky, manicure and pedicurist at Contempo Hair Design. The Russian-born nail magician says she prefers a European style, which means very thorough cleaning and intensive work on cuticles. 125 Jackson St., San Francisco, CA 94111. 415-398-7077.
